Guest workers expected to stay

Immigration. Many will ignore 2015 permit expiration: Experts

Toronto will see a spike in its undocumented migrant population in 2015 when many of Canada's temporary foreign workers see their four-year work permits expire and move underground, a city committee has heard.

"This issue is going to hit Toronto particularly hard," University of Toronto law professor Andrey Macklin, a member of an immigration expert panel, told the community development and recreation committee Thursday.

"Based on the experience of other guest-worker regimes, there is a significant number of people who end up overstaying."

The challenge is how the city and Greater Toronto are going to serve this vulnerable population that lives in the shadows, said Macklin.

In light of the rapid changes to Canadian immigration in recent years, the committee had instructed staff to report on their implications to Toronto.

The Immigration and Settlement Panel — consisting of Macklin, TD Economics economist Francis Fong, Women's Health in Women's Hands' Notisha Massaquoi and Thorncliffe Neighbourhood Office's Jehad Aliweiwi — was struck to provide expert advice on the issues identified.

In April 2011, the federal government changed the temporary-foreign-worker program by limiting their work permits to a maximum of four years and banning them from re-applying within four years.

While the four-member expert panel had no idea how many of the work permits will expire on April 1, 2015, it could be in the "thousands" in Toronto alone. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Ex-roommate charged in former escort's death

Kera Freeland CONTRIBUTED

Two years after the murder of 20-year-old Kera Freeland, her body found in a Caledon ditch, a 35-year-old man has been arrested in Calgary and charged in her death.

Freeland, originally from Calgary, had quit working as an escort in Toronto a month before she disappeared in January 2011, police have said. Her body was discovered on Heart Lake Road two months later.

Christopher Andronakos, Freeland's former Toronto roommate, was arrested in Calgary on Wednesday afternoon and charged with second-degree murder. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Shops get clean bill of health after rat infestations

Two shops in Kensington Market are reopening after Toronto Public Health shut them down for severe rodent infestations.

Wanda's Pie in the Sky, a popular bakery on Augusta Avenue, and New Seaway Fish Market were closed earlier this week.

New Seaway's owner said the shop is expected to open Friday after it is restocked.

Wanda's was given a pass to reopen Thursday afternoon.

'No Casino' group looks to be gaining momentum

Battle for support.
Canadian property developer joins powerful pro-casino movement as city council vote on resort looms in April

Quoted

"We're a small but mighty team. We always thought if we ever won this it would be death by 1,000 cuts, it wouldn't be one knockout blow, and it's beginning to work because the support is growing rapidly and daily. It has turned."

Maureen Lynett, No Casino Toronto co-founder

In one corner is No Casino Toronto, which has grown from three concerned women to a city-wide, social-media-savvy force.

In the other is Mayor Rob Ford, Ontario Lottery and Gaming Corp., international casino giants, several unions and an army of lobbyists.

On Thursday, Canadian property developer Cadillac Fairview joined the push as a full partner in Nevada-based MGM Resorts' pitch for an "integrated resort."

That bid has focused on Exhibition Place but sources say Cadillac Fairview's vast real-estate holdings open up other GTA possibilities.

No Casino Toronto has spent about $3,200 and is about to cough up a bit more to hand out 1,000 lawn signs.

OLG alone spent $5.75 million for a weeks-long media blitz touting its provincewide "modernization" plan and, in some cases, specific hopes for a Toronto casino.

In the middle are Torontonians and their 45 elected officials who, in a council vote expected in April, will decide whether to welcome a casino and, potentially, dictate a site and other conditions to private operators vying for the right to build and operate the GTA's one new facility.

According to a Torstar News Service survey of Toronto councillors Wednesday and Thursday, the No campaign, warning of inflated benefits and social and economic ills, is at the moment beating the pro-casino group promising a convention and tourism boost and a revenue jackpot for the city.

Of the 21 Toronto councillors reached, only two — Vince Crisanti and Norm Kelly — gave an unqualified "Yes" when asked if they will vote for a downtown casino.

Eleven were a firm "No" or strongly leaning that way, while eight who were undecided expressed frustration at the lack of a firm figure for the city's take.

Hosting-fee estimates have ranged from $30 million to $168 million, depending on location and size.

Sex 'workout' will not burn flab: Study

Myth busting. Widely held beliefs about weight loss turn out to be just that

Sex burns up to 300 calories. Breastfeeding can prevent obesity later in life. And skipping breakfast regularly can lead to excessive weight gain.

Those are a few of the obesity-related myths debunked in a study published Thursday in the New England Journal of Medicine.

The researchers are trying to put to rest misleading — or flat-out wrong — medical information that's often spread by media and can have an impact on policy decisions.

"It's a call to skepticism, it's a call to empiricism," said lead author David Allison, director of the Nutrition Obesity Research Center at the University of Birmingham at Alabama.

The authors also dissected the so-called 3,500 Calorie Rule, which holds that eating an extra 3,500 calories will result in a one-pound weight gain. That's faulty reasoning, said Arya Sharma, chair in obesity research and management at the University of Alberta. The body, he said, is constantly adapting to caloric changes.

"You can't simply add those calories up and assume that it's going to be weight gain or weight loss," said Sharma, who was not involved in the study.

Allison and his co-authors also take on the presumption that eating breakfast can stave off obesity, the suggestion being that skipping an early-morning meal spurs overeating later in the day. But that hasn't been proved, Allison said.

And so is the long-held belief that breastfeeding prevents obesity. The paper references randomized, controlled tests that offer "no compelling evidence of an effect of breastfeeding on obesity."

TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Benefits overestimated

- The study goes after the belief that sex can shed between 100 and 300 calories.
- But the authors found the calorie-reducing effects of lovemaking are equivalent to a walk of about 4 kilometres per hour, or a burn of 21 calories. To arrive at those numbers, the authors cited a paper from 1984 that studied only men.

Ikea monkey. Owner says she was duped into signing over her pet Darwin

Yasmin Nakhuda says she was duped into signing ownership of her pet monkey, Darwin, over to animal services after he was captured in an Ikea parking lot.

"The officer basically tricked me," she said in a sworn affidavit. A judge will rule on Friday whether Darwin should return to Nakhuda's care while she awaits a trial date for her lawsuit against Story Book Farm Primate Sanctuary for "illegally detaining" the monkey.

Though Darwin is an illegal pet in Toronto, animal-service officers do not have the power to seize permanent custody of the pet.

Her lawyer, Ted Charney, said Thursday that she signed a surrender form under duress after being told she would not get her monkey back. .

But the lawyer for the sanctuary, Kevin Toyne, argued that as a real-estate lawyer Nakhuda must understand what the word "surrender" means.

"There was no gun to Ms. Nakhuda's head," he said. "She didn't have to sign the form, but she did." TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Senator faces calls for punishment after mocking Chief Spence

MORGAN MODJESKI
Metro in Saskatoon

Some Idle No More organizers want repercussions for Sen. Patrick Brazeau after he made what they say are inappropriate comments about Attawapiskat Chief Theresa Spence at a Conservative fundraising event.

Brazeau referred to Spence's "so-called hunger strike" at a Legion hall in Ottawa and mocked her physical shape.

"I was sick two weeks ago," Brazeau said. "I had the flu and I lost five pounds. I look at Miss Spence, when she started her hunger strike, and now?" A voice then called out, "She's fatter," which drew laughter from much of the audience.

Erica Lee, one of the many organizers of the Idle No More movement, said although she's not surprised by the senator's remarks, she feels there should be consequences.

"It is frustrating, because he is a First Nations senator, and ... to have him make extremely racist and sexist comments towards Theresa Spence ... is very disheartening," said Lee.

She feels Brazeau's position should be reviewed and noted it may be too late for apologies.

Metro tried to reach Brazeau for comment, but phone calls to his constituency office were not returned.

Tory MPs. Harper rebuffs effort to have abortions investigated as homicide

Prime Minister Stephen Harper says while some of his Conservative MPs may not agree, abortion is legal in Canada.

Harper made the comments under questioning in the House of Commons over a letter written by three Tory MPs who want the RCMP to investigate hundreds of abortions as possible homicides.

"I think all members of this house, whether they agree with it or not, understand that abortion is legal in Canada, and this government ... has made it very clear that the government does not intend to change the law," Harper said Thursday.

The MPs from Saskatchewan, Alberta and Ontario made the request on House of Commons letterhead to RCMP Commissioner Bob Paulson.

"From 2000 to 2009 in Canada, there were 491 abortions of 20 weeks gestation and greater that resulted in live births," reads the letter dated Jan. 23. "This means that the aborted child died after it was born."

The letter is signed by Maurice Vellacott of Saskatoon-Wanuskwein, Leon Benoit of Vegreville-Wainwright and Wladyslaw Lizon of Mississauga East-Cooksville.

Drug under review after French ban

Health Canada says it is reviewing all available information on the drug Diane-35 following France's decision to ban it following four deaths over the last 25 years.

The four women died of blood clots linked to their use of Diane-35, an acne drug that is also widely prescribed "off-label" as a contraceptive.

Available since 1998 in Canada, Diane-35 is approved only for the temporary treatment of severe acne in women who are unresponsive to other treatments, Health Canada said Thursday.

Blood clots are a rare but well-known side-effect of birth control pills, said the federal department.

TTC AND ITS EMPLOYEES SERVE TORONTO, BUT ALSO PLAY ACTIVE CITY-BUILDING ROLE

ANDY BYFORD
CEO
TORONTO TRANSIT COMMISSION

The TTC's core business is moving people from A to B on clean, safe, reliable vehicles with the support of helpful, professional staff. Our efforts are focused around that objective, and that will continue.

But I strongly believe that the TTC also has a role to play in city building and in playing its part in the community.

Earlier this week, I attended a seminar entitled "From Battlefield to Boardroom" designed to promote the value of employing former service personnel into business. A series of speakers extolled the particular attributes that ex-Forces staff can bring to an organization, and this is certainly an avenue that I would like to pursue as we seek to professionalize the TTC from top to bottom.

The TTC has a proud history of links with the military. Every year, we participate in Remembrance Day ceremonies and we have a number of reservist and former service personnel in our ranks today.

The TTC and its employees, in fact, are actively involved in many community activities. In the last 10 years alone, TTC employees have raised more than $12 million for the United Way. As well, many staff give up their time to serve other charities and city institutions in the name of community spirit.

The TTC actively supports community functions, big and small. February, for example, is Black History Month, where the city recognizes past and present contributions that African-Canadians have made to Toronto's rich life. The TTC is a great way to get to many of the events and exhibits that celebrate Black History Month, some of which are listed to the right.

So while our core focus remains on the day (and night) job of keeping Toronto moving, I would like to see the TTC play an even larger role in supporting the communities, people and events that make this city so special.

ASK TTC – A QUESTION OF ETIQUETTE

Dear Andy Byford,

Why is the TTC so lax when it comes to educating its riders on courteous and considerate behaviour?

When we have people coming to Toronto from every corner of the world is it any wonder that riding on the TTC has become a veritable free-for-all? Just this morning I got smacked in the head, again, by a backpack filled with books. Last Tuesday I couldn't get off the train at Wellesley because so many people were hugging the door. These are very common issues that the TTC approach in such a sadly benign manner.

From time to time I use the Mississauga Transit. As you enter a bus there is signage instructing passengers to remove their backpacks, move to the back of the bus and be cognizant of those around them who might need a seat. Educate your riders. Set a standard.

I've had people sit down next to me and eat perogies, chicken wings, sushi and poutine. I don't experience this in cities like London and Paris where I routinely visit.

Please, educate your riders.

Sincerely,
Philip

Hi Philip,

Thank you for your question.

We know that etiquette leads to a more pleasant commute, but that's not the only reason to be polite to your fellow commuter. On a public transit system, etiquette can improve travel times as well.

Blocking doors on TTC vehicles leads to perceived overcrowding and longer "dwell" times at platforms and stops. Increased dwell time, or the time a train, streetcar or bus has to service a platform or stop, can lead to bunching and a domino effect of delays down the line. At its worst, it prevents customers from even boarding vehicles because there is simply no room to enter.

Backpacks take up space from other, paying customers. That's why we encourage customers to carry their backpacks in hand when entering a TTC vehicle and to place it on their lap or the floor in front of them when riding. Food is permitted on the TTC; however, in a shared space, it is important to also consider your fellow passengers.

Courtesy reminders are found on all TTC vehicles, Platform Video Screens, and can be heard through recorded announcements played in all TTC stations. We address specific issues such as backpacks, holding doors, and asking customers to help "make the TTC the Kinder Way by offering your seat to persons with disabilities, the elderly, expectant mothers or to anyone needing assistance."

Sincerely,
TTC

Hostage standoff. Alleged killer remains with child in underground bunker

Speaking into a ventilation pipe, hostage negotiators tried to talk a man into releasing a five-year-old boy and ending a standoff at an underground bunker in rural Alabama that stretched into its third day.

The man identified by multiple neighbours and witnesses as 65-year-old retired truck driver Jimmy Lee Dykes was accused of pulling the boy from a school bus on Tuesday and killing the driver. The man and boy were holed up in a small room on his property that authorities compared to tornado shelters common in the area.

James Arrington, police chief of the neighbouring town of Pinckard, said the shelter was about 4 feet underground, with a ventilation pipe that negotiators were speaking through.

There were signs that the standoff could continue for some time: A state legislator said the shelter has electricity, food and TV. The police chief said the captor has been sleeping and told negotiators that he has spent long periods in the shelter before.

"He will have to give up sooner or later because (authorities) are not leaving," Arrington said. "It's pretty small, but he's been known to stay in there eight days."

Midland City Mayor Virgil Skipper said he has been briefed by law enforcement and visited with the boy's parents. "He's crying for his parents," he said.

The normally quiet road was teeming Thursday with more than a dozen police cars and trucks, a fire truck, a helicopter, media and at least one ambulance near Midland City, population 2,300.

Local hero

The bus driver, Charles Albert Poland Jr., 66, was hailed by locals as a hero who gave his life to protect the 21 students aboard the bus. Authorities say most of the students scrambled to the back of the bus when the gunman boarded and said he wanted two boys 6 to 8 years old. When the gunman went down the aisle, authorities said, Poland tried to block him.

Beyonce sings the national anthem during a news conference Thursday in New Orleans. The singer answered critics of her Inauguration Day performance the best way she could — with another sterling performance of the national anthem. The difference? On Thursday, it was live. # Blaer hitch. Icelandic teen wins bid to keep 'inappropriate' name

A 15-year-old Icelandic girl has been granted the right to legally use the name given to her by her mother, despite the opposition of authorities and Iceland's strict law on names.

Reykjavik District Court ruled Thursday that the name Blaer can be used. It means light breeze.

The decision overturns an earlier rejection by Icelandic authorities who declared it was not a proper feminine name. Until now, Blaer Bjarkardottir had been identified simply as Girl in communications with officials.

"I'm very happy," she said after the ruling. "I'm glad this is over. Now I expect I'll have to get new identity papers. Finally, I'll have the name Blaer in my passport."

Like a handful of other countries, including Germany and Denmark, Iceland has official rules about what a baby can be named.

Youth education the next step in avalanche safety

Expanded services dependant on dollars.

Education in remote mountain communities a priority for CAC

MATT KIELTYKA
Metro in Vancouver

Avalanche safety has come a long way since the lives of seven Calgary students were lost during an ill-fated field trip in British Columbia's backcountry 10 years ago today.

Fatality rates have stabilized in the face of increasing backcountry use, more people are getting properly trained and equipped before heading into the mountains, and public awareness is on the rise.

Those successes can be directly attributed to aggressive reform after the 2003 Connaught Creek avalanche, but the Canadian Avalanche Centre (CAC) is well aware more work could be done.

But that becomes a question of funding. And it's an unanswered question.

"It depends a lot on what people want us to do," said Karl Klassen, acting executive director of the CAC.

"If people are happy with our services the way they are, I think we're in good shape."

The CAC — which, among many other tasks, is responsible for public avalanche forecasting and sets the standards for public avalanche-training courses and equipment — has a projected budget of $1.8 million this year.

Its federal funding enters the final year of a three-year cycle in 2014 and then it's back to the negotiating table.

Klassen doesn't think securing funding to maintain the CAC's status quo will be a problem, but some (both within the CAC and outside) are asking whether that level of service goes far enough.

"There have been a number of calls to expand services," Klassen said.

"For example, we don't do forecasts for the north Rockies. We're working on a project to see how we can go about it, but it will take more money."

Klassen sees the centre focusing on three pillars in the coming years: world-leading public avalanche information and bulletins, outreach and awareness programs and expanded youth education.

The third piece of that puzzle is perhaps the most critical going forward but is also underfunded.

"We'd love to expand youth education but we just don't have the resources for it," said Klassen. "There are many mountain communities, where avalanches are a fact of life, that just don't have much in the way of (avalanche) education."

He argues that children from kindergarten to Grade 8 in those communities must "be aware of the avalanche problem" and be taught skills that will serve them throughout life.

Even urban communities need greater youth education programs.

"Tons of people from Calgary go to the mountains every weekend," Klassen said. "(Education is) one of the cornerstones of what we should be doing, but unless we secure long-term additional funding we just can't do it."

It's an important decision that the CAC, and governments, will need to make over the next two years if Canada hopes to stay at the forefront of avalanche safety.

Ongoing process

Parks Canada strives to stay ahead of curve

Parks Canada is always working to be at the forefront of avalanche safety.

Mountain-risk specialist Grant Statham says fine-tuning and tailoring of public alerts, bulletins and information is an ongoing process.

"I would say what you see in the public domain today — we're a year or two ahead of that," said Statham. "At least, I hope so. We're always looking at how to better communicate with people. We want them to be better educated, that's the most important thing."

Nearly 17 years ago, Beth Stewart got a phone call that no parent ever wants to get.

Her son Trevor Petersen, a legend in the world of extreme skiing, was killed at the height of his career in an avalanche in February 1996 in the mountains of Chamonix, France.

He was 34 and left behind his partner, Tanya, and his son, Kye, and daughter, Névé.

Petersen, the youngest of three, learned to love the mountains at an early age from his brothers, Lindsay and Rick. He skied the most treacherous mountains in the world and graced the covers of many international magazines.

"I felt that my world had fallen in and I was lost after Trevor died," she says. "I missed his spirit, his love of life, of the mountains and his family."

Stewart spent two years undergoing therapy to deal with that loss and wondered

Justin Trudeau champions backcountry safety after loss

youth avalanche-education programs.

Justin Trudeau knows too well that an avalanche doesn't pause to ask a person's last name when it barrels down a mountain.

The Liberal leadership contender lost his youngest brother, Michel, when an avalanche swept him into B.C.'s Kokanee Lake while he was backcountry skiing in 1998. He was 23.

In the wake of the tragedy, Trudeau and his family became a force in raising awareness and funds for Canada's avalanche-safety organizations.

"We said, 'Please don't send flowers, send a donation to —' and then we tried to figure out what the Canadian avalanche community was," Trudeau said in a phone interview from Prince George. "They needed support, and I got involved."

Trudeau worked with the Canadian Avalanche Association to secure stable funding from the B.C., Alberta and federal governments and to build the Canadian Avalanche Centre until he entered politics in 2006.

"For me it was an opportunity to get to know this amazing sport and to get to know this world so well that my brother loved so much. It got me closer to him and his memory," he said. "There's just an amazing group of people committed to our extraordinary wilderness and playing safe within it."

It took the Strathcona-Tweedsmuir School accident, where seven children on an outdoor-education trip died in a slide near B.C.'s Rogers Pass, he said, to change public perception toward avalanche awareness. He credits ski patrols, scientists and the backcountry community for putting Canada at the forefront of avalanche safety in the decade since.

Now, he says, it's important to turn toward structured avalanche education.

"We have a generation of people who are out there who are all about getting more extreme, getting more active, getting involved," he said, adding that better equipment has made the backcountry more accessible. "They need to be a little bit more aware so they can take smart risks."

No stranger to the backcountry himself — he lived and taught snowboarding in Whistler in 1997 — Trudeau understands the draw and the pure feeling of "earning your turns."

"It's not about preventing people from going out there; it's about giving them the tools and the knowledge to make sure they're doing it safely."

helps parents grieve

what she could do to help others.

She got together with five other moms who had lost sons and daughters on the mountains and formed a group called Parents of Lost Skiers (POLS) in 1998.

"My intention was to carry on his method, his way and his love of others by helping them as they go on through life," Stewart says.

Since then, Stewart has gotten thousands of phone calls and emails from parents all over the world eager to ask questions on how she survived and dealt with her grief.

A couple from Texas visited Stewart more than a year ago at her home in West Vancouver. Their son died on Mount Seymour in B.C. a few years ago.

POLS' mission

Parents of Lost Skiers' mission statement:

- "To help, encourage and support parents who have lost a child to the mountains and to support the safety and the education of young people who feel the call of the mountains."

"We had lunch and talked. We parted, and the husband came running to me and told me what POLS meant to them," Stewart says. "He told me his wife two weeks ago had everything ready to commit suicide. She didn't want to live if she couldn't be with her son."

Stewart had sent an email to the woman earlier, encouraging her to go day-by-day.

"She confessed to her husband that she's thrown all the stuff away and decided not to go through with it," she says. "She decided if one person can do it, then maybe she can do it."

Stewart says everything she does is a tribute to her son, who died doing what he loved best.

"He once said to me, 'Mom, if I should ever die doing this, know that I was exactly where I wanted to be, doing exactly what I wanted,'" she says. "But we all miss him."

An employee apparently fired from music retailer HMV in the U.K. let loose on the company's Twitter feed Thursday, comparing the latest round of layoffs to a mass execution.

The rogue messages — which immediately attracted media attention — started with a missive saying "we're tweeting live from HR where we're all being fired! Exciting!!"

"There are over 60 of us being fired at once! Mass execution, of loyal employees who love the brand," another message said.

The person's identity wasn't clear but the Twitter messages came from the company's verified account, suggesting an employee was responsible.

In a statement, Deloitte, HMV's administrator, said that there had been 190 layoffs, most of them at the company's head office.

"Although such decisions are always difficult, it is a necessary step in restructuring the business to enhance the prospects of securing its future as a going concern," Deloitte's Nick Edwards said in a statement.

Deloitte didn't immediately return a message seeking comment about the online outbursts, although it appears that someone eventually took control of the account. The offending Twitter messages — including one which said "what have we to lose? It's been a pleasure folks!" — were deleted about an hour after they were first sent out.

Canada's HMV unaffected by British company's woes

- British music and entertainment giant HMV is scrambling to stay afloat amid stiff competition from online retailers and digital downloading services.
- However, HMV Canada's 113 stores are not affected because Hilco UK, a specialist in restructuring retail businesses, bought the Canadian operations for about $3.2 million in 2011.

Retail pain. Sears lays off 700, Best Buy closes stores

Sears Canada announced Thursday it is laying off 700 workers across the country as part of a move to "right-size" the company and focus on restructuring its business.

The national retailer says 360 people are being laid off from its department stores and about 300 from its distribution centres. The remaining workers are being let go from head office and other support areas.

The job cuts will be across Canada.

Sears Canada has been revamping operations to encourage more customers to return to its stores after years of declining sales, and also to prepare for the entry of numerous U.S. retailers, including discount chain Target.

Earlier this month, Sears had announced it was teaming up with the Aldo Group to design and manufacture footwear lines for their Nevada, Attitude and Jessica brands.

The company has 195 corporate stores, 269 hometown dealer stores, eight home services showrooms and more than 1,500 merchandise pick-up locations.

Meanwhile, Best Buy Canada has closed eight Future Shop and seven Best Buy big-box stores across the country.

The company says as part of its "transformational plan" it will open Future Shop small-concept web stores and Best Buy Mobile locations across Canada in the next year and a half.

"This move will enable the company to better serve its customers in both more locations and smaller markets across the country," the company said in a release.

It adds the closures are part of its efforts to "reduce unnecessary costs, eliminate redundant operating systems and to optimize its real-estate strategy to reflect ... a changing retail landscape."

Some 900 employees will be laid off because of the closures, representing less than five per cent of Best Buy Canada's workforce, a spokeswoman said. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Full-circle phenomenon

The lower the sun, the higher the bow

It's very rare to see a full-circle rainbow as the bottom is usually blocked by one's horizon.

The sun's height determines how much of an arc you see; the lower the sun, the higher the top of the rainbow. Some rainbows continue even below the horizon. Mountain climbers see more of a full-circle, while pilots have reported seeing genuine full-circle rainbows. METRO

Rainbow by moonlight

Don't need sun to make a rainbow

Victoria Falls is also famous for its "moonbows," or lunar rainbows.

Moonlight shines on the water, and while it is hard for the human eye to detect it, the bow's colours will appear in long-exposure photographs.

The moonbows are rare because a number of conditions are required: the moon must be less than 42 degrees high in a very dark sky. METRO

Gary Busey is the most famous of the Holly impersonators, having been nominated for an Oscar for The Buddy Holly Story, but others have also donned the black rims to good effect. An unknown actor named Guy Kent raved on in a surreal retelling of Buddy's life called The Day the Music Died. Less successful was Frankie Muniz who should have been (Peggy) sued for his performance in Walk Hard: The Dewey Cox Story.

Mark: Buddy Holly was surely the genius of the three. And I think The Buddy Holly Story did him justice. It was Gary Busey's last significant lead, and I think it's ironic that the madman actor played one of the few levelheaded stars of rock 'n' roll. La Bamba is a step down in rock biopics. Valens only had a nine-month career, and you can feel the story padding in the film. But worst of all was the sentimental ending with his brother blubbering on about the loss. Again, it was Lou Diamond Phillips' last significant lead before he became the straight-to-video champ.

RC: He may not be the biggest box office draw, but anyone who watched Celebrity Cook Off knows he's a helluva chef. I regard his homemade Wild Turkey Bourbon Barbecue Sauce as highly as his work in Young Guns or Stand and Deliver. But back to the movies. I liked La Bamba more than you, even though Phillips was way too old to play the 18-year-old singer. Most of it is Hollywood hokum, but the music by Los Lobos is good! Maybe you'd enjoy Lives and Deaths of the Poets more. It's a collection of short skits about famous writers and musicians, including Valens.

MB: You'll notice no one is rushing to make The Big Bopper biopic. But here's a guy who would have been a footnote in rock history except that he got on that ill-fated plane, forever linking him in our minds with the great Buddy Holly. Bad life choice for the Bopper, but ultimately a good career move.

RC: I think his life would make a good movie. He was a colourful character — a singer, a flamboyant DJ who wrote some big hits for other people. If they can make a film about payola king Alan Freed they could certainly find enough material for a Big Bopper biopic.

MB: I suspect the Freed movie, American Hot Wax, was as much about the artists that revolved around him as Freed himself. Not a half-bad movie either.

Synopsis

For music fans of a certain age, Feb. 3 is a day to observe a moment of silence. Known as the day the music died, it's the day, in 1959, when a small plane crashed outside Clear Lake, Iowa, killing rock 'n' rollers Buddy Holly, Ritchie Valens and JP "The Big Bopper" Richardson.

Lunarcy! explores the pull of the moon

Interview. Simon Ennis' documentary shares a colourful cast of characters obsessed by the moon but is careful not to poke fun

Man on the moon

"Everybody who has ever lived has had some sort of relationship to the moon. And how you relate to it says more about you than it does about the moon itself."

Simon Ennis
Talking about his documentary Lunarcy!

ADAM NAYMAN
scene@metronews.ca

Simon Ennis' very entertaining documentary Lunarcy! will make its theatrical premiere at the Bloor Hot Docs Theatre in Toronto before travelling to Texas in February for the ultra-hip SXSW Festival.

The 32-year-old director couldn't be happier about his outer-space-themed movie's local launch site.

"On a personal level, it means a lot to me because I basically grew up there," says Ennis. "I worked there from the time I was 14 to the time I was 19. It was one of the places that I spent my film-going youth."

With its fast pace and colourful cast of characters, Lunarcy! is the rare documentary with immediate appeal to a younger cohort.

The film orbits around a carefully selected group of subjects who have in different ways spent their lives obsessing over the moon.

"Everybody who has ever lived has had some sort of relationship to the moon. And how you relate to it says more about you than it does about the moon itself — it's more of a blank slate that people can project anything onto. The ancient Greeks thought it was a mirror, and that its face was actually the Earth being reflected back at them."

One of Ennis' subjects quite literally sees himself on the Moon — a bookish young man named Christopher Carson with elaborate plans to relocate to the celestial body.

While Carson and several of the other people profiled in Lunarcy! are eccentric, Ennis takes pains not to belittle their desires.

If anything, he identifies with their outsized dreams, and says that shooting a movie in various locations across America helped him discover his own adventurous spirit.

"We sort of put the movie together in the same way that the moon was formed in the first place," he laughs. "A large body smashed into Earth and a lot of stuff got thrown up into the atmosphere and just slowly coalesced together."

Simon Ennis' documentary Lunarcy! will make its debut at the Bloor Hot Docs Theatre in Toronto. HANDOUT

Jason Bateman puts on a familiar Identity

Interview. Arrested Development star talks about the move to Netflix and his new comedy project Identity Thief

NED EHRBAR
Metro World News

Being the straight man in a comedy can be a thankless job, but Jason Batemen has no problem with that. His latest, Identity Thief, finds him taking on Melissa McCarthy's titular con woman. Plus, this spring he gets to reprise his best-loved straight man role, as put-upon Michael Bluth in Arrested Development, when the cult hit returns with new episodes on Netflix. Still, if you've got a more outlandish comedy role in mind, he's willing to listen.

Do you find it at all insulting to be asked how hard it is to keep a straight face opposite someone like Melissa McCarthy?
No, actually, I've never taken it that way. That's tough to do, and I fail miserably at it repeatedly, especially with Melissa. You've just got to have the camera on her alone so that when I start laughing you don't see my shoulders bouncing up and down in the foreground.

You've made quite a career of playing the straight man, but have you been looking for parts beyond that type?
Yeah, I mean I would enjoy doing that. Send them. I'll read them and do them. But I get most of my opportunities doing what people have seen me do before, and I don't think that's too dissimilar from most actors. You kind of get offered what people expect to see you in. So it's up to me to start to steer the ship in another direction if I want some changes. And I do, every once in a while. That was one of the things that really attracted me to a film I did with Ryan Reynolds called the Change-Up. It didn't really work at the box office or critically, but we had a really good time doing it.

Belly laughs

"Craig wrote a script that didn't need any ad-libbing whatsoever to make it funny, and so we didn't do a lot of that."
Jason Bateman
Talking about his time on Identity Thief.

Was it Melissa or writer Craig Mazin who kept adding in jokes about you having mangled junk in Identity Thief?
Well, Craig's pretty filthy. Craig wrote a script that didn't need any ad-libbing whatsoever to make it funny, and so we didn't do a lot of that. We would every once in a while make stuff up to crack each other up and make the crew laugh, but this isn't one of those movies where it's, 'Boy, thank God those actors improvised because otherwise it wouldn't be funny.' Craig Mazin did a really, really good job.

So he's the one obsessed with you having messed-up junk?
He loves my junk. Or he loves my messed-up junk. He wants bad things to happen to it because I won't give it to him.

True or false: You are the only Bluth family member to appear in each of the new episodes of Arrested Development.
I believe that is true. I haven't seen them, he's still editing them, but that was the goal when Mitch (Hurwitz) and I talked about these episodes early on. There was a question as to whether the finances or the scheduling would allow for all of us to be in every episode, and I said, 'Whatever it takes schedule-wise or finance-wise, I'm your guy.' So we worked it out and we just made sure that I was done with all of my duties before I had to go off and do something else.

Any word on returning guest stars?
I think Mitch has already said that a few people are coming back. I think he's mentioned Carl Weathers and Henry Winkler and ... who else did he mention? James Lipton and Andy Richter. There's many more. And then his ideas for the movie are just insane. So hopefully Act II and Act III will happen, which is the movie. I can't wait to see what he does with all this footage. We still have a little bit of additional stuff to do. I work one more day on it in a week or two.

Romantic Comedy

Warm Bodies

Director. Jonathan Levine

Stars. Nicholas Hoult, Teresa Palmer

Warm Bodies doesn't stink nearly as much as I imagine its leading character would. A rom-com set in an apocalyptic near-future ruled by rambling rotten corpses, the film focuses on a love-lorn zombie crushing on a gorgeous living girl. Basically a spin on Romeo and Juliet (if Romeo were dead, that is), the comedy has youthful quirk and charm, but its modesty will likely aggravate purists looking for cinematic zombie gore.

STEVE GOW

Documentary

West of Memphis

Director. Amy Berg

Stars. Jason Baldwin, Damien Echols, Jessie Misskelley

The bulk of the movie is comprised of the 17-year fight to prove the innocence of the West Memphis Three, three teens convicted on dubious evidence in 1994 of the murder of three young boys. But compelling though the story may be, the Alford Plea that earned them release from prison on the proviso they plead guilty feels like justice, once again, was not served. Real life doesn't always work out the way we want and neither do documentaries. As a result, West of Memphis is interesting, but ultimately unsatisfying.

RICHARD CROUSE

Comedy

Stand Up Guys

Director. Fisher Stevens

Stars. Al Pacino, Alan Arkin, Christopher Walken

This story of three old hoodlums on one last adventure is slightly less than the sum of its parts. Combined, the leads — Al Pacino, Alan Arkin and Christopher Walken — bring with them more than a century of screen work, and it shows. It's too bad, then, that the material contains Viagra jokes that would seem more appropriate in a Grumpy Old Men movie. That and the long shadow of Tarantino that blankets almost every scene leaves the film feeling less than original despite the engaging performances.

RICHARD CROUSE

Historical Drama

A Royal Affair

Director. Nikolaj Arcel

Stars. Mads Mikkelsen, Alicia Vikander

Sumptuously designed and as thrilling as any contemporary Hollywood film, the Danish A Royal Affair — nominated for an Oscar for Best Foreign Film — is superlative filmmaking. In it, Mads Mikkelsen stars as Struensee, an enlightened country doctor circa late-1700s Denmark who is enlisted to be the soft-headed boy-King Christian IV's personal physician. Soon, Struensee is changing the church-run system from within, becoming a father figure to the King while engaging in a passionate affair with the lonely Queen.

Zombies vs. vampires

"I understand parallels have been drawn because there's a mystical element to the relationships in both of these films. I think tonally it's very different — Warm Bodies to Twilight. There's a lot of comedy, we don't take ourselves too seriously. But having said that, we of course embrace comparisons in a sense because Twilight is a hugely successful franchise and if we can find half the audience that Twilight has I think we'd be very happy."

Teresa Palmer, during a recent interview in Toronto, when asked if people would compare Warm Bodies to Twilight

The secret behind Nevermind

Movie. Dave Grohl's movie, Sound City, takes a particular interest in the studio where Nirvana found their break

Dave Grohl's Sound City takes a colourful look at a piece of music history. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rock musician Dave Grohl set out to make a recording studio the subject of his first-ever film. He was intrigued not only by the studio but by a specific piece of recording equipment — a 1970s era sound board — that captured every note of music made there. Geek city, right? It sounds like an idea any sane moviegoer would run from. Instead, Sound City offers a colourful piece of music history, a candid examination of changes wrought by technology and a defiant statement about not surrendering the human element in creativity. Grohl's rookie film made it to the Sundance movie festival, is being released theatrically Friday and is accompanied by an album featuring artists he interviewed.

"It honestly was more like a keg party with a camera than making a Hollywood film," he said.

Grohl knew nothing about the Sound City studio in Van Nuys, Calif., when he and fellow Nirvana members Kurt Cobain and Krist Novoselic booked a session to make Nevermind in 1991. Their California record company wanted Nirvana nearby to keep an eye on them and time at Sound City was cheap.

It was in a nondescript neighbourhood and looked like a dump, with tired shag carpeting. Then Nirvana noticed all the gold records on the wall from artists who had recorded there: Fleetwood Mac, Tom Petty, Van Halen, REO Speedwagon, Guns 'n Roses, Neil Young, Cheap Trick, Slayer, Rick Springfield and more.

After plugging in their instruments and running through In Bloom, Grohl and his mates discovered why. The sound, to their ears, was amazing. Nirvana had never been captured with such clarity and power before.

"You might have never heard of Nirvana if we had recorded in Hollywood with a fancy producer who made us sound like Def Leppard," he said. "The fact that that (sound) board made us sound like us is what people appreciated. To be reunited with it, honestly, it was like meeting your real parents for the first time."

The end

We'll finally know how he met your mother

CBS says the big reveal is coming for How I Met Your Mother. The network said Wednesday the sitcom will air its ninth and final season next fall.

And CBS Entertainment President Nina Tassler promised that TV's "most mysterious mother" will be unveiled as the show wraps up. That would be the mystery woman with whom Ted, played by Josh Radnor, ultimately has a family. The sitcom's cast also includes Neil Patrick Harris, Cobie Smulders, Jason Segel and Alyson Hannigan.

20th Century Fox Television says all the actors will return for the 2013-14 season. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Homicidal mallards and those singing falsetto

SOUND CHECK
Alan Cross
scene@metronews.ca

Two of these tracks are from the where-have-you-been pile. The other track, well, it involves a duck.

No Freedom/ Dido

Ms. Cloud de Bounevialle O'Malley Armstrong returns after a five year absence with Girl Who Got Away. The co-writer on this song has worked with every-one from Madonna to Weezer.

One Way Trigger/The Strokes

This isn't the first single from the forthcoming fifth album from the Strokes, but if you've ever wanted Julian Casablancas to sing in a falsetto, this is for you.

Get Up (Rattle)/Bingo Players feat. Far East Movement:

Just when you're thinking no one would make a music video featuring a homicidal mallard. You heard me.

Super Bowl colliding with Mardi Gras vibe makes for a big party

Music. Numerous parties, concerts and events make festivities around the big game as much of an attraction as anything

Justin Timberlake returns to the stage at the Super Bowl for the first time in years. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The entertainment leading up to the Super Bowl is so A-list, Beyoncé may not even have the most anticipated performance surrounding the big game.

Justin Timberlake is due to give his first major musical performance in years. Stevie Wonder is performing for the masses at an outdoor concert. Cee Lo Green is reuniting with his old hip-hop clique, Goodie Mob, and Rascal Flatts is teaming up with Journey for a concert. Those represent only a fraction of the all-star events to celebrate the Super Bowl.

"The Super Bowl has become such a big event in itself. So many people come from everywhere, looking to not only be a part of the Super Bowl but also the festivities leading up to the game," said Cee Lo, who is performing at ESPN's Next event. "There's so much to do, from parties, concerts and events."

Indeed, until the Baltimore Ravens and the San Francisco 49ers meet at the Superdome on Sunday, much of the emphasis in the days leading up to the event has very little to do with the game.

Exclusive event

Perhaps the most hotly anticipated event features Timberlake.

- Invite. He will perform during DIRECTV Super Saturday Night, an invitation-only concert

Lil Wayne is throwing a major bash in his hometown, Jay-Z is holding court at another event the evening before his wife, Beyoncé, performs at halftime, and Jamie Foxx is due to give a private concert — and that's just the lineup for Saturday.

Director Michael Bay is holding court at a private estate for a celebrity dinner for charity. Santigold, Solange and producer/DJ Diplo will perform at Audi's two parties during the weekend, and both Playboy and Maxim are planning blowout parties with their trademark models.

"I've never seen anything like this," said Gary Solomon Jr., co-founder of Solomon Group, the local company hired to help set up the stages and lighting for the outdoor concerts and broadcasting areas in the French Quarter and near the Superdome.

"When you look at the master calendar of all the events, it's pretty daunting," he said.

"This Super Bowl is, like, having 30 events in the same weekend."

Cast of 30 Rock faced a tearful ending to series

Finale. Jane Krakowski talks to Metro about the final episode and saying goodbye

MEREDITH ENGEL
Metro World News in New York

Jane Krakowski won't be stealing anything from the 30 Rock set. GETTY IMAGES

When we met up with Jane Krakowski at a Bank of America event over the holidays, the star — who plays the excitable Jenna Maroney on 30 Rock — had just four days of filming left on the NBC sitcom. She filled us in on those final days on set.

Her final table read wasn't easy
It was tearful. Everyone was a little choked up because we actually acknowledge the show within the show ending, so it kind of brought it all home for us. We'd kind of been living like, 'Yeah, I guess it's gonna end in a few episodes,' and suddenly we're here. But I think the writers did a great job finishing the characters the way you want them to, and, of course, in true 30 Rock wacky style.

Could her character get any wackier?
(Laughs) I don't know if that's even possible, but I am going to miss playing her. I mean, she's so over-the-top and high above the line of reality. I'm gonna miss it.

Why ending the show is so bittersweet
I think it's a mixed bag of emotions. I'm excited to see what's next. I'm going to miss everybody terribly. It's just been such a great group of people, and I think that everyone on the show knows that this is as good as it gets. I think we're all really proud of what we made and that we've made it on the air this long — it's a lot longer than we expected.

What she's taking from the set
It's funny, because of course you want to have some memento of the seven years — but I like to say stealing is a crime and I will not be partaking in any of that. There are numerous Jenna posters I could take, but I don't really need those in my home — large pictures of myself. I think Tina's taking the sign that says The Girlie Show before it was named TGS that Jenna destroyed by throwing something at, so it's kind of broken and she's taking it as it is. I don't know. I'll certainly take away all my good memories.

Why Ice-T popped up in the finale
There is a Law & Order reference. I think he plays his Law & Order character. Coco was there — I think Coco's always with him. They're a sweet couple. Everyone on the set was very excited that Coco came, too.

How she's saying goodbye
It's going to be hard. There's about 300 people who work on our show, and so to say goodbye to each and every one of them — there will be days when you're walking on set and pass someone and you get really emotional. You think, 'Oh, I didn't realize, I'm gonna miss that guy' — those people that you see every single day.

Mayer more comfortable in front of the cameras

John Mayer is definitely mellowing when it comes to dealing with paparazzi.

"The way that the media plays a part in everyone's life has changed over the last several years," he tells RollingStone.com. "I mean, I used to be incredibly put off by somebody taking a picture, thinking as if in some way it was invading my brain. But all it is, is you can see where I was last weekend. That's all. And I think time has shown that nothing will be stolen from you. It's just a photograph of you and your dumb scarf that you put on because it wouldn't fit in your suitcase. Cool."

Lo and behold, Lindsay makes it to court

Lindsay Lohan wasn't too sick to fly after all. Despite reportedly being too under the weather to make it from New York back to L.A. this week for a Wednesday court date, the troubled actress showed up after all, wearing a little black dress and Louboutin heels, according to the Associated Press. "I'm glad to see you're feeling better," Judge Stephanie Sautner told Lohan at the hearing. Lohan pleaded not guilty to three misdemeanor counts stemming from a car crash last summer. If found guilty, she could face 245 days in jail because of probation violations. "She's on probation," Sautner said at the hearing. "The condition is that she obey all laws."

Jennifer Lawrence

Tip for Jennifer Lawrence: no more shopping trips now that you're famous

Oscar-nominee Jennifer Lawrence recently told Metro that her Silver Linings Playbook co-star Bradley Cooper had taught her that she can't go to the grocery store anymore now that she's famous.

"It's fine, I can get friends to get my groceries," she said last month.

But apparently Lawrence thought the height of awards season was a good time to try again, as she was spotted this week at a Los Angeles supermarket, buying groceries incognito under a large purple hat and a massive scarf, according to photo agency X-17.

HELPING SHAPE A NATION

On Feb. 1, Black History Month celebrations officially begin at museums, art galleries, libraries, schools, churches, legislature buildings, concert halls and community centres across Canada.

The events being held are both diverse and eclectic. For example, an exhibit called "Got Soul: 5 Artists, 1 Love" is being displayed at the Art Gallery of Alberta in Edmonton, while a two-night run of Dreamgirls is being performed at Alderney Landing Theatre in Dartmouth, N.S. These are just a small sampling of the myriad events taking place.

The history of this important month of recognition in Canada begins in the 1950s, when the Canadian Negro Women's Association brought the celebration to Toronto. By 1978, the Ontario Black History Society had successfully petitioned the city of Toronto to have the annual celebration formally recognized.

Today, the importance of recognizing Black History Month is felt right across the country. "African-Canadians need to feel affirmed and be aware of the contributions made by other blacks in Canada," says Rosemary Sadlier, who has served as the volunteer president of the Ontario Black History Society since 1993.

"African-Canadians need to have role models and understand the social forces that have shaped and influenced their communities and their identities so they will feel empowered," Sadlier says. "And the greater Canadian community needs to know a history of Canada that includes all of the founding and pioneering experiences."

As a people with roots dating back to 1603, African-Canadians have defended, cleared, built and farmed this country.

"As a nation with such diversity, all histories need to be known and all voices need to be expressed," Sadlier says.

RBC AND STUDENTS HONOUR BLACK CANADIANS

Three high school students in the GTA will take home scholarship awards this month for their winning essays in the RBC Black History Month student essay competition.

In a salute to Black History Month, the competition invited Grade 12 students to write an essay about how black Canadians have helped to define Canada's diverse heritage and identity. The winning essays will be announced Feb. 4 at a special RBC event. The first, second and third prizes are $3,000, $2,000 and $1,000 scholarship awards.

"We believe that it's so important for our youth to understand and celebrate the history of black Canadians," says Mark Beckles, regional vice-president, RBC. "The fact that over 160 students — a record number of submissions — took the opportunity to weave powerful and moving narratives really makes us all winners."

"I was so impressed with the quality of the essays," says Mitzie Hunter, CEO, Civic Action, and one of the judges. "You could tell all of the students worked very hard, and they seemed to be writing with pride and joy ... I felt that coming through in their stories."

The other judges were Justice Irving Andre, judge on the Ontario Provincial Court of Justice, Dwight Drummond, CBC broadcaster, OPP Insp. Rohan Thompson and aide de camp to Lt.-Gov. David Onley, Prof. Juliet Daniel, McMaster University, and Audrey Campbell, president, Jamaican Canadian Association.

While Matthew Samuels, one of the finalists and a Grade 12 student at Markham District High School, initially entered the competition to win scholarship money, "I learned a lot about the contributions of two strong individuals and I've come to better understand the ideals that Black History Month is dedicated to."

Samuels has applied to several universities in Ontario to study engineering.

RBC will publish three of the essays a week throughout Black History Month at rbc.com/essays.

The essays will be featured on RBC's Twitter and Facebook pages, too.

TOP 10 FINALISTS IN ESSAY COMPETITION

The top 10 finalists in the RBC Black History Month student essay competition are:

- Akin Osunbunmi, Marc Garneau Collegiate Institute
- Alexandra Stella Isaac, Collège français

BLACK HISTORY: THEN AND NOW

ANNUAL TD SERIES SHOWCASES CANADIAN TALENT

The contributions of black artists and communities in Canada have made this country a stronger, culturally richer place. Starting this month, you can discover your own connection to Canadian black history and culture through the TD Then and Now Black History Series.

Held annually, TD Then and Now showcases some of the brightest talents on the Canadian artistic and cultural scene.

The work of these individual artists, together with contributions from cultural organizations, and even large cultural institutions, gives all Canadians a glimpse of the range, variety, and virtuosity of black artists in Canada today. It also celebrates the past. Through TD Then and Now, you can discover how black artists, writers, activists and everyday people helped shape the Canadian heritage we all now share.

February is, of course, Black History Month: First recognized by the House of Commons in 1995, following a motion introduced by the Hon. Jean Augustine, the first black Canadian woman elected to Parliament. Black History Month celebrates the achievements, past and present of the Canadian black community; now the third-largest visible minority community in Canada, with a population of more than 750,000. This population enjoyed 18 per cent growth between 2001 and 2006, due in part to an influx of new immigrants — each group bringing with it new art forms, cultural traditions and perspectives that enrich not only black communities, but all Canadians.

Most of TD Then and Now's events take place during Black History Month. It holds events in four Canadian cities: Halifax, Montreal, Ottawa, and Toronto. To learn more about events near you, visit blackartndialog.com.

TD Then and Now is produced by Black Artists' Networks Dialogue (BAND): An organization dedicated to supporting, documenting, and showcasing the artistic and cultural contributions of black artists in Canada and abroad. Sponsors for this year's events include title sponsor, TD Bank, along with CBC/Radio-Canada, the Government of Canada, the Ontario Lottery and Gaming Corporation (OLG), the City of Toronto, and Metro.

PERFORMANCES

TD Then and Now's series of Toronto events showcases some of Canada's top artistic talent. Be sure to check out these events (and many more) in your area:

KUUMBA
WHEN: Feb. 1-3
WHERE: Harbourfront Centre
PRICE: Free (with the exception of one ticketed event Saturday)

Kuumba (Swahili for "creativity") celebrates the vitality of Toronto's African and Caribbean communities, showcasing works by emerging and innovative Canadian and international artists.

LEAP YEAR LOVE DANCE
WHEN: Feb. 1-28
WHERE: Stewart Memorial Church, Hamilton
PRICE: Free

Written, produced, and directed by Colina Phillips, this film presents dance, period music, and clothing covering the years 1892 through 2012, and chronicles the background of African-Canadian ranching pioneer John Ware.

For more, see blackartndialog.com.

MULTIPLE EVENTS TO CHECK OUT NEAR YOU

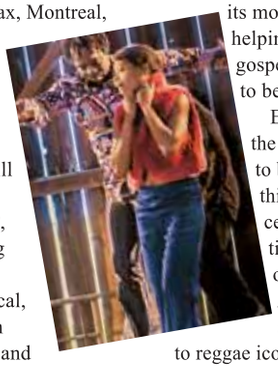
TD Then and Now will be hosting multiple events in Halifax, Montreal, Ottawa, and Toronto this February and early March. Here are a few of the highlights:



The Charles Taylor Hall Theatre Society will perform its production of Dreamgirls Feb. 1-2, at the Alderney Landing Theatre, in Dartmouth, N.S. This popular musical, set in the 1960s through 1980s, details the trials and triumphs of a trio of young, black, female singers, who achieve superstardom through an amateur singing competition. This Canadian staging features a concert piece, alongside play excerpts, and boasts the talents of five professional artists and 10 emerging, established, and community-based artists. Blending its moving story with a generous helping of soul, Motown and gospel music, this show is sure to be a crowd pleaser.

Events in Montreal include the Afrophylia concert series, to be held Feb. 6-28. Now in its third year, this concert series celebrates the worldwide artistic and cultural contributions of people of African descent. Afrophylia 2013 opens with a special concert dedicated to reggae icon Bob Marley (born Feb. 6) by Montreal-based roots reggae band, Inword.

Montrealers will also enjoy the Frobruary Festival, a series of multidisciplinary presentations featuring music, conferences, workshops, and discussion. The festival, running Feb. 1-28, will focus on identity issues within Canadian black communities. This year's guest speakers include Angela Davis, Jenny Salgado, and former governor general Michaëlle Jean.

From Feb. 4-9, Arc-En-Ciel d'Afrique will present Massimadi, its Montreal festival of Afro-Caribbean lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgendered (LGBT) films and documentaries. Now in its fifth year, the festival will include a dozen film screenings, two conferences, a visual arts exhibition, and other special events designed to demystify homosexuality and transexuality within Montreal's black communities.

Acclaimed recording artist Molly Johnson will take the stage at the National Arts Centre in Ottawa on March 8. Equally adept in the pop music, jazz, and blues genres, the Toronto-born, Juno Award-winning Johnson has won fans the world over, while confirming her place as one of Canada's preeminent performance artists.

Meanwhile, in Toronto, photojournalist Lesia Bailey will join forces with the Fourth Eye Gallery and Helping Hands International to present The Visual Evolution of Dancehall Culture Within Toronto. Open Feb. 1-16, this solo photography exhibition chronicles the evolution of this city's distinctive Dancehall culture, covering everything from basement parties to international arena shows.

TD Then and Now celebrates black Canadian history and culture with programming both educational and entertaining. If you are an artist, or a member of a cultural organization, and you wish to be part of next year's Then and Now, look for the 2014 application form at blackartndialog.com. You will find yourself in good company.

STAMPS OF APPROVAL

CANADA POST SALUTES JOE FORTES AND OLIVER JONES

Canada Post has released two new stamps in its Black History Month series that feature jazz great Oliver Jones and an English Bay lifeguard legend named Seraphim (Joe) Fortes.

"Of course, Oliver Jones is a huge phenomenon while Joe Fortes is a bit of an unknown," says Jim Phillips, director of Stamp Services at Canada Post. "But part of our mandate is to educate people on great Canadians, and Joe is one of those unsung heroes."

The series, in its fifth year, honours black Canadians who have made a difference.

Fortes moved to Vancouver from Trinidad and Tobago back in 1885 and, for several years, volunteered his time watching over the beach and teaching children to swim at English Bay. In 1901, he was officially hired as a lifeguard and over the years, he saved a reported 100-plus lives. Fortes died in 1922, but today there is a library, restaurant, and a school named after him in Vancouver, as well as fountain in Alexandra Park in memory of his contributions.

Jones is a world-renowned jazz musician. Born in Montreal, he started playing the piano at his local church when he was five years old. While he made his living as a musician, it was not until his 40s that jazz became Jones' mainstay. He continues to tour and perform around the world today. Jones has been recognized many times and has received the Order of Canada, l'Ordre national du Québec, The Governor General's Award, three Juno Awards, 10 Félix Awards, the Martin Luther King Jr. Award, and six honorary doctorates.

Celebrate Black History Month with Canada Post

Canada Post marks Black History Month with stamps honouring two beloved Canadians: Joe Fortes, the heroic Vancouver English Bay lifeguard who saved over 100 lives; and Montréal's Oliver Jones, a 5-time Juno winner and recipient of the Martin Luther King Jr. Award.

Liquid Assets

Wash down game snacks

LIQUID ASSETS
Peter Rockwell
@therealwineguy
liquidassets@eastlink.ca

When it comes to pairing liquids with solids, wine has the edge over its boozy competition. After all, you're not going to wash down haute cuisine with a brewski. Right?

It really depends on where you are.

In wine engaged cultures (like France and Italy), culinary artists evolved their industry in parallel with their compatriots in nearby vineyards. So, it makes sense that locals reach for vino when they put on the feed bag.

Countries like the United Kingdom and Belgium — where wine production is nearly non-existent — have a closer affinity to beer, which makes a good brew their primary dinner table mate.

Since the Super Bowl is this Sunday, I'm betting most of you will be serving pub-inspired fare and drinking like the Brits as you watch the game.

Not that you can't serve wine (think something white and off dry). It's just that aggressively flavoured finger food, the likes of Buffalo Chicken Tenders and Short Ribs, calls for something cool and thirst-quenching. While a crisp Euro or Canadian lager fits the bill, I prefer medium-bodied, lightly malted ales like Newcastle Brown Ale (500 ml, $2.90 to $3.49) from England's north east.

PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS THE COUNTRY. SOME PRODUCTS MAY NOT BE AVAILABLE IN ALL PROVINCES.

Bite into lighter side of Super Bowl staple

Buffalo Chicken Tenders. Put aside the deep fryer and pop these crunchy snacks into the oven

The key food groups of Super Bowl are meat and melted cheese, preferably deep-fried. Buffalo-style chicken wings and chicken nuggets are just the sort of deep-fried deliciousness we're talking about. And this recipe marries the two, incredibly, in a way that satisfies the soul and keeps blood whistling through the old arteries.

The chicken is luxuriated in a buttermilk bath for several hours, after which it is coated with a mixture of breadcrumbs and panko (for extra crunch), and baked in the oven.

It's not quite as crispy as a deep-fried version, but it is nonetheless ridiculously flavourful. This effect is achieved by adding a blue cheese dipping sauce, which borrows one of the trademark ingredients of Buffalo chicken wings. Traditionally, wings are tossed in a mix of hot sauce and butter after they come out of hot oil. But you don't want to sog up your finished product, so dip the finished baked tenders, first in the hot sauce then in the blue cheese. This combo is a touchdown.

This recipe serves four. MATTHEW MEAD/ THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ingredients

- 2 garlic cloves, smashed
- 1 tsp salt
- 1/4 cup plus 2 tbsp hot sauce, divided
- 2 cups plus 6 tbsp buttermilk, divided
- 1 lb chicken tenders (or chicken breasts cut into 3-by-1-inch strips, 1/2-inch thick)
- 3/4 cup whole-wheat Italian seasoned breadcrumbs
- 1/4 cup panko breadcrumbs
- 1/4 cup low-fat mayonnaise
- 1/4 cup crumbled blue cheese
- 1/2 tsp lemon juice

1. In bowl, combine garlic, salt, 2 tablespoons of hot sauce and 2 cups of the buttermilk. Whisk until salt dissolves. Add chicken tenders and stir to coat well with the marinade. Cover and refrigerate for at least 2 hours and up to 10 hours.

2. When ready to cook, heat oven to 425 F. Line baking sheet with parchment paper and spray it with olive oil cooking spray.

3. In shallow bowl combine whole-wheat and panko breadcrumbs. In another small bowl, whisk remaining 6 tablespoons of buttermilk, the mayonnaise, blue cheese and lemon juice. Transfer to ramekin for dipping. Pour remaining 1/4 cup of hot sauce into a second ramekin for dipping.

4. Use colander to drain chicken, but do not pat it dry. Dip each chicken piece in the breadcrumb mixture, making sure it is coated well on both sides. Arrange chicken in single layer on prepared baking sheet, then spritz tops with olive oil cooking spray.

5. Bake on oven's middle shelf for 10 minutes. Turn chicken pieces over and bake an additional 5 minutes, or until just cooked through. Let cool few minutes, then transfer to a platter. Serve with both dipping sauces.

Turkey Meatball Grinders: soy residue never tasted so good

This recipe serves four. MATTHEW MEAD/ THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nothing says good eats like soy residue. Except that in Chinese cooking, it really can. And you very likely have enjoyed that soy residue with hoisin, a classic ingredient for sauces.

Hoisin is a sauce that blends sweet-spicy-savoury flavours, a profile not all that different from ketchup. It is made from the leftover mash of fermented soy beans produced when making traditional soy sauces. That mash is combined with sugar, chilies, garlic, vinegar, salt, sometimes five-spice powder and either flour or cornstarch.

1. Heat oven to 425 F. Coat baking sheet with cooking spray.

2. In bowl, combine egg, cilantro, scallions, garlic, ginger, lime zest, hoisin and 1/2 tablespoon salt. Mix well. Add turkey, knead with hands until mixed. Add breadcrumbs and mix again. Form into 20 balls.

3. In skillet over medium-high, melt 2 tablespoons of butter. Add half of meatballs and brown on all sides, 5 mins. Transfer to prepared baking sheet, then repeat with remaining butter and meatballs.

4. Bake meatballs 8 minutes, or until cooked through and thermometer inserted at centre of a meatball reads 165 F.

5. In bowl mix tomatoes, Crème fraîche, hot sauce and 1/2 teaspoon of salt. Spread a quarter of mix down centre of each sub. When meatballs done, arrange 5 in each roll. Serve. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ingredients

- 1 egg
- 2 tbsp chopped fresh cilantro
- 2 scallions, finely chopped
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 2 tbsp grated fresh ginger
- Zest of 1 lime
- 1/4 cup hoisin
- Salt
- 1 1/3 lbs ground turkey
- 3/4 cup panko (Japanese-style) breadcrumbs
- 4 tbsp butter, divided
- 2 plum tomatoes, diced
- 1/2 cup crème fraîche
- 1 tsp hot sauce
- Four 6-inch sub rolls

Lunch. Smoky Turkey Burgers with Manchego

1. Heat grill to medium. Oil grates, or coat with cooking spray. You can also use an indoor grill.

2. In bowl, whisk egg, garlic and mustard powder, paprika, black pepper, salt. Set aside.

3. In food processor, combine turkey and prosciutto. Pulse until meat is well chopped but still chunky, about 10 seconds. Scrape sides of bowl and pulse again if any large pieces remain unchopped.

4. Transfer meat to bowl with egg mixture, then mix well. Form meat into 4 loose patties. They will be moist and not hold together well.

5. Use spatula to carefully place burgers on grill and cook, covered, 5 minutes. Flip the burgers — they should be firm enough to move easily now — and cook for another 4 to 5 minutes, or until they read 165 F at the centre. If using an indoor grill, grill each side for about 6 minutes. Top each burger with a quarter of the cheese, then serve on a bun. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ingredients

- 1 large egg
- 1/2 tsp each garlic powder, mustard powder, smoked paprika, ground black pepper
- Pinch kosher salt
- 1 1/4 lbs turkey tenderloin, cut into large chunks
- 2 oz prosciutto
- 4 hamburger buns
- 4 oz manchego cheese

PORZIA

Just opened: Porzia

We'd been waiting awhile, and now it has finally arrived: Porzia, the new restaurant from Chef Basilio Pesce (formerly of Biff's Bistro and Canoe). Parkdale's newest Italian restaurant (located at 1314 Queen St. W.), has a small menu of homestyle Italian classic dishes, a retro-meets-mod room and some tasty cocktails.

Just opened: Boccone Trattoria at Pearson Airport

Celeb Chef Massimo Capra's got some new digs. No, he hasn't left Mistura, but he has partnered to bring some more notable dining to Pearson Airport. Boccone Trattoria has just opened up in Terminal 1 at Toronto's international airport, offering up the same dedication to classic Italian eats as Capra's other restaurants. The renaissance of Pearson into a world-class airport hub grows ever stronger.

Just opened: Chili Cult

At 1647 Eglinton Ave. W. you'll find the latest restaurant to join the one-hit wonder craze in Toronto: Chili Cult. As its name suggests, Chili Cult is all about chili. Chili fries, chili quesadillas and, of course, beef and vegetarian chili bowls that you can top to your heart's content. In a city saturated with burger and pizza joints, we're getting chills thinking about Chili Cult.

Moore succumbs to injuries after snowmobile crash

Caleb Moore, an innovative freestyle snowmobile rider who was hurt in a crash at the Winter X Games in Colorado, died Thursday morning. He was 25.

Moore was being treated at a hospital in Grand Junction since the Jan. 24 crash. A family spokeswoman confirmed his death, the first in the 18-year history of the X Games.

Moore was attempting a backflip when his snowmobile caught the lip of the landing area, sending him over the handlebars. He landed face first in the snow with his snowmobile rolling over him.

Moore walked off with help and went to hospital with a concussion. He developed bleeding around his heart and was flown to Grand Junction for surgery. The family later said that Moore also had a complication involving his brain.

Casey pays $25K for ref comments

The NBA fined Toronto Raptors coach Dwane Casey $25,000 US on Thursday for his criticism of game officials.

Casey was furious after he felt Raptors forward DeMar DeRozan was fouled in the dying seconds of Toronto's 93-92 loss to the Atlanta Hawks on Wednesday night.

"I'm tired of losing games because of missed calls at the end of the game," Casey said. "I know the league's going to come down on me for this, but I don't care. Guys have fought their hearts out, played their hearts out."

Nikolai Kulemin and Matt Frattin scored third-period goals to give the Toronto Maple Leafs their first home win of the season in a 3-2 comeback victory over the Washington Capitals in NHL play Thursday night.

Kulemin tied it at 2-2 at 7:40 of the third period, poking in a puck that squeezed through Michal Neuvirth's legs from a Michael Kostka shot from the point. As the Caps goalie tried in vain to squeeze his pads, Kulemin reached behind and nudged the puck in for his first of the year.

Frattin made it 3-2, capping off a nice passing play with Nazem Kadri at 9:53 of the third by tapping in the puck for his fourth goal — and sixth point — in four games.

The Leafs lived dangerously in the final minutes, with the Caps pressing.

James van Riemsdyk also scored for Toronto (4-3-0), which outshot Washington 40-22. The Leafs had their chances to take control earlier in the game, but lack of clinical finishing and failure to convert numerous power-play opportunities kept them frustrated before 19,374 at the Air Canada Centre.

Toronto, which came into the game ranked 20th on the power play, went one-for-eight with the man-advantage. There were no penalties in the third period.

Alex Ovechkin doubled his goal output on the season via the power play at 2:38 in the second period, drilling a low wrist shot through James Reimer from just outside the faceoff circle for a 2-1 lead.

Joel Ward opened the scoring for Washington (1-5-1), which has yet to win on the road. Mike Ribeiro had two assists, upping his scoring total to one goal and seven assists.

Prior to the game, North York's Ward noted via Twitter that baseball icon Jackie Robinson would have been 94 on the day.

"Hope I represent the number well! #42," tweeted Ward, who wears the number in Robinson's honour.

Raps' Lowry excited about addition of close friend Gay

Blockbuster trade.
Raptors excited to welcome 'superstar' forward, who is the godfather of Toronto point guard's son

Kyle Lowry will happily call the Toronto Raptors his team, and is excited about sharing it with one of his best friends.

While Lowry said it was tough to lose Jose Calderon and Ed Davis in Wednesday's deal to acquire Rudy Gay, he was talking up his new teammate to reporters on Thursday, saying the team was getting a "superstar."

"It's very exciting for me personally, and for the team and the organization because you get pretty much a superstar type player, a guy who could possibly be an all-star for the next five or six years in a row," Lowry said of Gay.

The deal that sent fan favourite Calderon ultimately to Detroit propelled Lowry back into the starting point guard position — the spot that was supposed to be his when the Raptors acquired him last offseason, but which he lost to Calderon through injury and the Spaniard's strong play.

"Now it is my team, so the burden of it being my team is definitely something I always wanted, and (I) have no problem with this being my team," Lowry said.

There will be an immediate level of comfort between Lowry and Gay. The two are good friends — Gay is godfather to Lowry's son — and as Lowry pointed out, "I've already passed the ball to Rudy before, so ... when he's here, it's going to be an easy transition for him and for our team I believe."

Lowry spoke to Gay soon after the deal, which also brings Hamed Haddadi to Toronto, telling the 26-year-old forward that he was coming to a "first-class organization."

It will be a few days before the two share a court, however.

Gay won't play in Friday night's home game against the Los Angeles Clippers. He isn't scheduled to arrive in Toronto until late afternoon Friday and still needs to pass a physical.

Gay, the Grizzlies' leading scorer and a player who Raptors GM Bryan Colangelo was believed to have been hotly pursuing for some time, had been the subject of trade speculation throughout the season as Memphis looks to unload his hefty max contract. The six-foot-eight small forward is due $16.5 million US this season with $37 million more over the next two years.

Raptors coach Dwane Casey said regardless of his hefty contract, the team is getting "a talent." Gay — taken eighth overall in the 2006 draft, seven spots after Andrea Bargnani was selected by the Raptors — is averaging 17.2 points and 5.9 rebounds per game in what hasn't been his strongest season.

"No disrespect to our players, but at the end of the game, you've got a guy who can create consistently and get you two points," Casey said. "We've had so many close games, that's star time, that's the time when we put them in the right situation, you've got to complete the play.

The view from Memphis

Grizzlies take loss of star in stride

The Memphis Grizzlies have shown once before they can be contenders without Rudy Gay. It's time to prove it again.

The Grizzlies started the process of moving on Thursday after trading their leading scorer to Toronto in a three-team deal that brought Tayshaun Prince, Austin Daye and Ed Davis to Memphis.

The franchise's best post-season run came with Gay injured two seasons ago, with an upset of top-seeded San Antonio and then a thrilling seven-game Western Conference semifinal series against Oklahoma City. Before that, Memphis had never even won a playoff game.

"We've been without Zach (Randolph). We've had guys go down and we've had to deal with it. This team is great at playing with adversity," said point guard Mike Conley.

No timetable for Spezza return after surgery

The Ottawa Senators will have to try and build on their impressive start without one of their star forwards.

Jason Spezza will undergo surgery Friday in Toronto for a herniated disc and will be out for the foreseeable future.

Senators general manager Bryan Murray told reporters Thursday that it's too early to provide a timeline for Spezza's return, but the team is hopeful that he'll be able to play again this season.

Only 1 team's road ends in victory

Super Bowl preview. Both Ravens and 49ers, led by sibling head coaches, ready to battle in New Orleans

The San Francisco 49ers never have tasted defeat in a Super Bowl, going 5-0. It's the most impressive mark for any franchise in the big game.

Baltimore also is undefeated, with the Ravens winning their only appearance, in 2001.

Someone will have the Super Bowl blahs for the first time after Sunday's title game in the Superdome.

The Ravens, who are 3 1/2 -point underdogs, are on one of those runs reminiscent of recent NFL champions. Indeed, the New York Giants reached the Super Bowl a year ago in a similar manner, winning a wild-card game at home, then two playoffs on the road, including an overtime thriller.

The Giants got healthy down the stretch, something the Ravens have replicated, particularly on defence, where star linebackers Ray Lewis and Terrell Suggs are giving vintage performances following injury-shortened seasons.

"That's what's been our road," Lewis said. "No matter who's been up, who's been down, who's been hurt, who's been injured. We found a way to pick each other up."

These Niners are built around a physical, stingy defence — that also has been the Ravens' persona for years, although not as much in 2012 as in Lewis' other 17 pro seasons. Linebacker Patrick Willis, who like Lewis wears No. 52 and is a perennial All-Pro, is the anchor.

"As a kid, you grew up watching," Willis said. "Last year, we were one game away. To be able to be here is truly special."

To make it extra special, San Francisco's offence will need to outdo Baltimore's. The Ravens have scored 90 points in three games, and the Niners have 73 in two. Baltimore's defence has made big plays against Andrew Luck, Peyton Manning and Tom Brady. Now it gets an entirely different type of quarterback, Colin Kaepernick. His combination of running skill, powerful arm and surprising cool for a second-year pro makes him particularly dangerous against the Ravens.

Then again, the 49ers must deal with Joe Flacco, the only QB to win a post-season game in each of his first five seasons.

While the Ravens and 49ers play for each other, the Harbaugh brothers, John of the Ravens and Jim of the 49ers, will go against each other in the first Super Bowl featuring sibling head coaches. They've had fun with the topic this week, but it will be as serious as football can get on Sunday. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

- Baltimore's path to New Orleans led through New England, where the Ravens fell to the Patriots in last year's AFC title game. But they outscored the Patriots 21-0 in the second half to earn their spot in the Super Bowl.
- San Francisco also came up one win short a year ago, losing to the Giants for the NFC championship. That defeat has driven the 49ers just as much as the Ravens' failure in 2011 lifted them.

Flacco's backup. Forgotten QB Taylor will be waiting in the wings on Super Sunday

Everyone knows the starters, of course, Baltimore's Joe Flacco and San Francisco's Colin Kaepernick.

They even know about Alex Smith, who started for the 49ers until he was sidelined with a concussion in November and Kaepernick stepped in.

And Taylor? His resumé can be summed up on the top half of an index card: Two years, no starts and 30 passes — 25 of them in the Ravens' meaningless regular-season finale against Cincinnati last month.

That's because Flacco has started every game during the past five seasons and never has missed a down because of injury or ineffectiveness.

Still, Taylor knows he's only one play away from getting into the Super Bowl, and for that reason he's practising hard this week as Sunday's championship game draws near.

"There are so many situations throughout the league where the next guy is called in, so you can't look at how many straight games Joe has played without being injured," Taylor said. "You never know what can happen at any second of the game. I have to be ready to take over if that happens."

The 49ers are preparing for that situation, too. While Flacco is a traditional pocket passer, Taylor is just as likely to scoot downfield as throw the ball. He ran for 65 yards in that game against the Bengals, and at Virginia Tech he set a school record for rushing yards by a quarterback (2,196).

Baltimore Ravens backup quarterback Tyrod Taylor GETTY IMAGES

Being a backup QB is a role Taylor takes seriously. He isn't in the Big Easy this week to take a stroll on Bourbon Street or munch on beignets.

"You have to be ready to play," Taylor said. "That's how you have to carry yourself throughout the week as far (as) preparation. You have to be physically prepared and mentally prepared because you never know when the opportunity may come." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

No HGH tests despite deal

Count Baltimore Ravens defensive end Arthur Jones among those NFL players who want the league and union to finally agree on a way to do blood testing for human growth hormone.

"It would be fair to do blood testing," Jones said. "Hopefully they figure it out."

When the Ravens face the San Francisco 49ers in the Super Bowl on Sunday, two seasons will have come and gone without a single HGH test being administered, even though the league and the NFL Players Association paved the way for it in the 10-year collective bargaining agreement they signed in August 2011.

Since then, the sides have haggled over various elements, primarily the union's insistence that it needs more information about the validity of a test that is used by Olympic sports and Major League Baseball. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Something to prove on Sunday

Experience, statistics and past performance will go out the window on Sunday and these six players will be expected to be top producers on one of sport's biggest stages under the bright lights of the Super Bowl:

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Joe Flacco, quarterback

Has eight touchdowns and no interceptions in this post-season ... Is 8-4 in playoffs ... Outplayed top draftee Andrew Luck, then Peyton Manning, then Tom Brady in leading Ravens to Super Bowl.

Anquan Boldin, wide receiver

Helped Arizona to 2009 Super Bowl and has been sensational in this post-season ... Has 16 receptions for 17.3-yard average and three scores, two in AFC title games ... Powerful, versatile and can outleap defenders for balls ... Made 65 catches for 921 yards and four touchdowns this season.

Ray Lewis, inside linebacker

"The Raven," as teammate Bernard Pollard calls him ... Emotional engine for Baltimore for entire career, retires after this game ... Missed 10 games with torn right triceps, but has been sensational in playoffs with 44 tackles ... MVP of 2001 Super Bowl, Ravens' only championship ... Defensive Player of the Year in 2000 and '03.

Colin Kaepernick, quarterback

Dynamic player who replaced injured Alex Smith in November and kept the job ... Fast with long strides, set record for position with 181 yards rushing versus Green Bay, including 59-yard touchdown ... Strong arm, unafraid to throw into tight spots ... Excellent weapon in read-option, although Niners don't use it that much.

Michael Crabtree, wide receiver

Matured this season and became a true No. 1 receiver ... Led team with 85 catches, 1,105 yards and nine touchdowns ... Somehow finds way to get wide open several times a game ... Good after the catch, but needs to consider better ball security; fumbled at Atlanta 1 in conference championship.

Patrick Willis, inside linebacker

All-Pro tackling machine ... With apologies to Lewis, Willis is best linebacker in this Super Bowl — and probably best in entire league ... Has made All-Pro in five of six seasons and took Defensive Rookie of Year honours in 2007 ... Had 120 tackles, 88 solo this season.

Horoscopes

♈ Aries
March 21 - April 20
You will do your reputation, and maybe your bank balance too, a heap of good today by doing something that takes friends and family by surprise. People expect you to think and act in certain ways — so prove them wrong.

♉ Taurus
April 21 - May 21
Whatever you do and however you do it, people will applaud you for a job well done. Both at home and at work you are leading a charmed life at the moment. Make the most of it. You know it won't last!

♊ Gemini
May 22 - June 21
What you dream of now will come true in the near future, so dream away to your heart's content. It may be that certain people are not taking you seriously but they will soon learn the error of their ways.

♋ Cancer
June 22 - July 23
You may be tempted to treat life as a bit of a joke over the next 24 hours, and most likely you are right to do so. The things that other people get worked up about are not worth the time or effort.

♌ Leo
July 24 - Aug. 23
Anything is possible if you want it enough. If you really, truly desire something you will find a way to get it. Keep that thought in mind not just today but throughout the coming month. And act on it.

♍ Virgo
Aug. 24 - Sept. 23
You won't lack for self-belief today but watch out you don't get overly confident and make a mess of a task you could usually do with your eyes closed. You know what comes before a fall, don't you? Pride.

♎ Libra
Sept. 24 - Oct. 23
Try to be a bit more cautious in your decisions today, especially if you are involved in a project that could cost you rather a lot if it goes wrong. Remember: There is no such thing as a sure thing.

♏ Scorpio
Oct. 24 - Nov. 22
This looks like an excellent day for affairs of the heart. If there is someone you have been admiring from afar, now is the time to get up closer. Make contact and look for ways to spark a romance.

♐ Sagittarius
Nov. 23 - Dec. 21
No matter how daunting the task that faces you today you will make a good job of it. The most important step is the first one, so stop worrying that you are out of your depth and get cracking.

♑ Capricorn
Dec. 22 - Jan. 20
Don't push yourself too hard today. Jupiter, planet of excess, is now moving forwards again through the wellbeing area of your chart, so you may be tempted to do something rash. You'll regret it in the morning.

♒ Aquarius
Jan. 21 - Feb. 19
Your task for the day is to help others — not just friends and family but people you meet out in the world as well. The best way to help, as always, is to lead by example. No one does it better than you.

♓ Pisces
Feb. 20 - March 20
It's OK to have fun — in fact it's essential — but don't go overboard and forget that you still have chores to finish and duties to fulfill. The harder you work now, the happier your weekend will be.
